

EYFS Weekly Challenge

Hi I hope you are all safe and well. I thought this week we could try this classic sensory game "What's in the Box?" it's quite easy to set up and it brings a lot of fun for the whole family! Start collecting things around the house to challenge each other! Ask questions to help guess the object.

You can even add more malleable textures, like cooked pasta, rice, paint or even shaving foam!

First

Get an empty box, I used a shoe box. Open the cardboard box, and draw a circle on each side of the box (ideally big enough to fit all hands).

Ask an adult to carefully cut around the circles.

Next

Get a large T-shirt if you can and feed the box through the T-shirt and tuck the sleeves into the holes on each side.

Finally

You are ready to play!

1. Choose 5 objects, make sure no one can see.
2. Place the objects in the middle of the box.
3. Choose one member of your family to place their hands in the box. Can they describe what they have felt?
4. Did they guess what it is?
5. Yay! Now it's your turn, tell mummy to choose 5 objects! Remember no peaking!
